

Fellowes High School
Course and Extracurricular Fees

Background

Every resident student (from herein, student will mean resident student) has the right to attend a school without the payment of fee for courses that are required for graduation. The cost of materials and activities for elementary and secondary education are provided to schools by the Ministry of Education and are reflected in school board operating budgets.

When schools or school boards choose to offer enhanced or optional programming, parents may be asked to contribute financial resources to support these programs or activities. When fees are required every effort must be made to ensure that no student is excluded from these programs for financial reasons.

Fees charged for program are appropriate in cases where schools or school boards choose to offer enhancements or supplementary learning materials beyond the core curriculum.
